BIBLICAL KNOWLEDGE

Be rooted and grounded in scripture and able to interpret and apply the scriptures in ways that are appropriate to original and contemporary contexts.

Outcomes

- Practice regular Bible study as a spiritual discipline;
- Read biblical texts from both testaments effectively for preaching and worship, interpreting them in light of the gospel and relating them to the life of faith today;
- Analyze biblical texts using current scholarly methods;
- Assess and use critical commentaries and other resources (for example, print and online “sermon helps” and lectionary studies);
- Describe in broad terms the historical development of the Bible, including the social, economic, and political contexts out of which biblical literature grew;
- Distinguish literary genres and theological “schools of thought” that appear in the Bible;
- Identify the role which the experience and culture of the reader plays in the interpretation of biblical texts.

CHURCH ADMINISTRATION AND PLANNING

Be able to practice the principles of good administration, planning and implementing short- and long-range goals to enhance congregational life in collaboration with teams and committees.

Outcomes:

- Select an appropriate leadership style – adjusted according to the constituency and context – to maximize one’s personal potential;
- Develop a work plan that demonstrates an understanding of congregational/contextual dynamics;
- Identify how race, ethnicity, class, gender and orientation shape, define and influence leadership needs and expectations;
- Perform necessary and appropriate administrative tasks (e.g., organizational analysis, working with ledgers and budgets, giving direction to a team, hiring practices, computer skills and electronic communication);
- Practice self-care and time management based on a well-grounded theological understanding.

COMMUNICATION

Be an effective communicator and be able to facilitate effective communication within and on behalf of the church.

Outcomes:

- Use appropriate and effective communication styles and tools in order to inspire, inform, and invite participation in the life, mission, and purposes of the Church;
- Effectively use communication skills for public and small group conversations and speaking;
- Employ the appropriate pastoral role, given the circumstance – when to guide and/or when to participate in conversations or discussion;
- Select and use appropriate technology and media to convey the message and mission of the congregation;
- Utilize communication skills that promote effective, positive relations with staff, boards, agencies, congregation, and other relevant groups/communities;
- Distinguish between and clarify the formal (explicit) from the informal (tacit) roles, rules, rituals and relationships in any church structure with which you are working.

CROSS CULTURAL AND ANTI-RACISM EXPERIENCE

Be sensitive to the different manifestations of racism and prejudice in the culture and be committed to confronting and overcoming them.

Outcomes:

General guideline: Be sensitive to the different manifestations of racism and prejudice in the culture and be committed to confronting and overcoming them.

- Articulate images of a God who is manifest and present among members of every culture and race;
- Practice ministry, both within one’s own culture and the Church universal, informed by domestic and global responses to the needs of God’s people;

- Nurture faith in others, understanding and teaching that everyone's faith is contextual and influenced by such factors as, race, gender, class, and culture;
- Utilize scriptural resources, theology, tradition, and personal experience, to identify and oppose racism as both unchristian and ungodly;
- Model ministry that enhances the church and the world, by embracing and celebrating racial and cultural diversity;
- Help those with whom you do ministry to understand that racism is essentially systemic, but influences the attitudes and behavior of people of all races;
- Draw on the ministry of Jesus Christ, to present the opposition to racism and the embrace of every culture, as "welcoming the stranger."

ECUMENISM

Exhibit a commitment to working with other Christians and denominations and with other faiths in programs of common witness and service, and to articulating the vision of the ecumenical and global church as a starting place for mission.

Outcomes:

- Articulate why the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) highly values ecumenism, drawing on resources from our tradition;
- Articulate a theology of ecumenism, drawing on resources from scripture and tradition;
- Articulate a theology of Christians relating to non-Christian faiths, a theology that is respectful and truthful, a theology that reflects the candidate's own faith stance, all the while recognizing multiple ways in which such relationship can be construed;
- Use ecumenical resources and design ecumenical worship services;
- Describe and theologically reflect upon at least one significant ecumenical experience, be it a worship, a social justice activity, or a dialogical activity in which you took an active role;
- Describe and theologically reflect upon at least one significant interfaith experience, be it a worship service, a social justice activity, or an interfaith dialogue in which you took an active role.

EDUCATION AND LEADER DEVELOPMENT

Know the foundations of Christian education and the principles of leader development. Show competency in teaching children, youth, and adults, including lay leaders and staff.

Outcomes:

- Use analytical skills for assessing, evaluating and selecting curriculum and Christian education materials best suited for a ministry context;
- Practice respect for the ways culture, community and experience, inform and shape the teaching task;
- Participate in the dynamic educational process that involves both teaching and learning for the teacher and the learner;
- Utilize knowledge of the foundations for Christian education and principles for leader development when teaching children, youth and adults;

- Employ an understanding of the issues characteristic of each stage of human development and how those issues impact learning and shape various learning styles.

ETHICS

Be able to help parishioners think critically about the relationship of their faith to issues of justice, ethics and morality.

Outcomes:

- Adhere to The Ministerial Code of Ethics in the conduct of ministry, and model personal behavior consistent with the fundamental principles of Christian ethics;
- Lead in ways that call forth ethical conduct among individuals and groups within the church;
- Relate resources from scripture and tradition to specific ethical issues today;
- Preach and teach effectively about social and economic justice as core concerns of Christian faith;
- Address ethical issues raised by culturally-imbedded racism, sexism, heterosexism, and classism;
- Describe the role personal/communal experience and cultural perspective play in ethical reasoning and be able to apply a variety of approaches.

EVANGELISM

Be able to motivate Congregational members to share their faith through word and action.

Outcomes:

- Articulate a theological and biblical basis for evangelism consistent with the faith perspectives and approaches of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ);
- Understand evangelism as it is linked to discipleship and faith development;
- Use various media and technologies in proclaiming the gospel in current contexts and social milieus;
- Show sensitivity to how cultural and generational differences call for a variety of evangelistic approaches;
- Implement evangelistic expressions that are informed by the pluralistic realities of contemporary life, being respectful of matters of race, culture, and interfaith relationships;
- Understand the church as an evangelical community in which people are invited to participate in and to themselves become good news for one another and the world;
- Understand the differences between evangelism and church growth strategies.

MISSION OF THE CHURCH IN THE WORLD

Be able to understand and articulate the centrality of the call to mission given by Jesus Christ and the prophets. Be able to empower congregations to engage in mission from our doorsteps to the ends of the earth.

Outcomes:

- Articulate an understanding of the world as a place of God’s activity—witnessing and participating in God’s mission of redemption, liberation, reconciliation, and renewal of creation in our immediate communities and in the world;
- Teach and practice in the Christian community what it means to be participants in and recipients of God’s mission activity in the varied contexts of congregation, community and the world;
- Articulate a theology of mission which is consistent with both our immediate Christian community’s context, as expressed in our Church’s document “From our doorsteps. . . ,” and our global mission philosophy as proposed by Global Ministries/DOM;
- Identify an array of practices of Christian mission in the immediate and global community and discover connections with theologies that undergird those practices;
- Exercise an understanding of the Disciples of Christ Division of Overseas Ministry’s understanding of “critical presence” in its global work and the role of congregations to serve as “Global Mission Partners” in the mission of the church worldwide;
- Articulate the long history of Disciples mission practices and theologies that shaped, and continue to shape, Disciples of Christ ecumenical relationships, cross-cultural encounters, interfaith encounters and dialogues;
- Show an appreciation for and commitment to ministries and mission practices that nourish and sustain healthy local Christian and non-Christian communities, develop global mission partner congregations, promote justice, foster peace, seek reconciliation, and live in the expectation of the coming Reign of God.

PASTORAL CARE

Be able to engage other persons with empathy and assess situations and relationships with the compassion of Christ, with sensitivity to culture and context. Be able to convey the healing power of God to those who suffer.
